FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS, AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

Petitioner John D. Krupa, at one time a Texas prisoner, has filed, from a free-world address, a pro se application for writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2254. See Dkt. Nos. 3 & 4. His action has been referred to the undersigned United States magistrate judge for pretrial management under 28 U.S.C. § 636(b) and a standing order of reference from United States District Judge Ed Kinkeade. Because Krupa's habeas application is an unauthorized successive petition, the Court should transfer it to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit for appropriate action.

Applicable Background

As recounted in a previous decision concerning Krupa,

[o]n December 20, 2001, Petitioner was convicted of aggravated sexual assault of a child and sentenced to thirty years confinement. State of Texas v. John Damon Krupa, No. F-983221-PN (195th Crim. Dist. Ct., Dallas County, Tex., Dec. 20, 2001). On January 14, 2003, Petitioner's conviction and sentence were affirmed on direct appeal. Krupa v. State, No. 05-02-00116-CR (Tex. App. – Dallas, pet. ref'd). On June 11, 2003, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals denied Petitioner's petition for discretionary review.

On February 20, 2003, Petitioner filed his first state habeas petition. Ex parte Krupa, No. 56,048-01. On July 30, 2003, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals dismissed the petition because Petitioner's direct appeal was still pending. On November 17, 2005, Petitioner filed his second state habeas petition. Ex parte Krupa, No. 56,048-02. On February 22, 2006, the Court of Criminal Appeals denied the petition without written order. On August 18, 2009, September 25, 2009, and January 21, 2010, Petitioner filed his third fourth and fifth state habeas petitions. Ex parte Krupa, Nos. 56,048-03, -04, -05. Those petitions were dismissed as subsequent petitions.

On May 3, 2011, Petitioner filed a federal § 2254 petition. Krupa v. Thaler, No. 3:11-CV-288-L (N.D. Tex.). On July 31, 2012, the district court dismissed the petition as barred by the statute of limitations. On February 1, 2013, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals denied a certificate of appealability. Krupa v. Thaler, No. 12-10835 (5th Cir. Feb. 1, 2013).

Krupa v. Stephens, No. 3:13-cv-2906-L, 2013 WL 5763243, at *1-*2 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 24, 2013) (transferring unauthorized successive petition to the Fifth Circuit).

To the extent that he meets the “in custody” requirement of Section 2254(a), see, e.g., Claybon v. Texas, No. 3:16-cv-2479-K-BN, 2016 WL 5793767, at *2 (N.D. Tex. Aug. 29, 2016) (“A prisoner need not be physically confined to be ‘in custody’ for the purposes of Section 2254. But, ‘once the sentence imposed for a conviction has completely expired, the collateral consequences of that conviction are not themselves sufficient to render an individual “in custody” for the purposes of a habeas attack upon it.’” (quoting Maleng v. Cook, 490 U.S. 488, 492 (1989); citation omitted)), rec. accepted, 2016 WL 5717532 (N.D. Tex. Sept. 28, 2016), Krupa again raises claims challenging his 2001 Dallas County conviction, see, e.g., Dkt. No. 3 at 2.

Legal Standards and Analysis

The Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 (“AEDPA”) limits the circumstances under which a state prisoner may file a “second or successive” application for federal habeas relief, see generally 28 U.S.C. § 2244, and “was enacted in part to bring finality to state court judgments,” Leal Garcia v. Quarterman, 573 F.3d 214, 220 (5th Cir. 2009) (citing Williams v. Taylor, 529 U.S. 420, 436 (2000)). As the Fifth Circuit has explained, Section 2244 lays out the requirements for filing successive petitions, serving as gate-keeper by preventing the repeated filing of habeas petitions that attack the prisoner’s underlying conviction. The statute does not define “second or successive,” however, and we have made clear that a petition is not “second or successive” merely because it is numerically second. In In re Cain, 137 F.3d 234, 235 (5th Cir. 1998), we defined a “second or successive” petition as one that “1) raises a claim challenging the petitioner’s conviction or sentence that was or could have been raised in an earlier petition; or 2) otherwise constitutes an abuse of the writ.” Section 2244 specifies when a later-in-time petition will be heard. Despite its strictures, the case law clarifies that there is a category of petitions that, even though later in time, are outside the confines of § 2244 and will be heard because they are not “second or successive” within the meaning of AEDPA.

Id. (footnotes omitted and internal citation modified).

Where multiple Section 2254 petitions attack the same judgment(s), a court “look[s] to pre-AEDPA abuse of the writ principles in determining whether [a] petition is successive.” Hardemon v. Quarterman, 516 F.3d 272, 275 (5th Cir. 2008) (quoting Crone v. Cockrell, 324 F.3d 833, 837 (5th Cir. 2003)); see id. (“We held that Crone’s petition was successive because he ‘knew of all of the facts necessary to raise his [second] claim before he filed his initial federal petition.’ This holding aligned with our ‘strong policy against piecemealing claims.’” (quoting Crone, 324 F.3d at 837)).

The Court must determine whether a subsequent federal habeas application is second or successive within the meaning of AEDPA to ensure that there is subject matter jurisdiction. See Leal Garcia, 573 F.3d at 219 (“AEDPA requires a prisoner to obtain authorization from the federal appellate court in his circuit before he may file a ‘second or successive’ petition for relief in federal district court. Without such authorization, the otherwise-cognizant district court has no jurisdiction to entertain a successive § 2254 petition.” (footnotes omitted)); see also Crone, 324 F.3d at 836 (collecting cases); cf. Linzy v. Faulk, No. 14-cv-00962-BNB, 2014 WL 5355293, at *3 (D. Colo. Oct. 21, 2014) (“[t]he one-year limitation period in 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d) is not jurisdictional,” and “[t]here is no language in 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d) that would prohibit [a court] from bypassing the issue of timeliness if the claims asserted in the § 2254 Application are without merit” (citing Day v. McDonough, 547 U.S. 198, 205 (2006))).

A claim presented in a second or successive application under Section 2254 must be dismissed unless:

- (A) the applicant shows that the claim relies on a new rule of constitutional law, made retroactive to cases on collateral review by the Supreme Court, that was previously unavailable; or
- (B) (i) the factual predicate for the claim could not have been discovered previously through the exercise of due diligence; and
 - (ii) the facts underlying the claim, if proven and viewed in light of the evidence as a whole, would be sufficient to establish by clear and convincing evidence that, but for constitutional error, no reasonable factfinder would have found the applicant guilty of the underlying offense.

28 U.S.C. § 2244(b)(2). But that determination must be made by a three-judge panel of the circuit court of appeals before a petitioner files an application in district court. See id. § 2244(b)(3); see also Garcia Briseno v. Dretke, Civ. A. No. L-05-08, 2007 WL

998743, at *2 (S.D. Tex. Mar. 29, 2007) (“A circuit court preliminarily authorizes the filing of a successive action if a petitioner shows that it is ‘reasonably likely’ that his successive petition meets section 2244(b)’s ‘stringent requirements.’” (quoting In re Morris, 328 F.3d 739, 740 (5th Cir. 2003))).

The undersigned finds that the current habeas petition is successive under AEDPA. And Krupa’s failure to obtain authorization from the Fifth Circuit under Section 2244(b)(3) before filing it here “acts as a jurisdictional bar to [this Court’s] asserting jurisdiction over [it] until [the Fifth Circuit grants him] permission to file [it].” United States v. Key, 205 F.3d 773, 774 (5th Cir. 2000) (citations omitted). It therefore is appropriate for the Court to dismiss the successive [habeas application] without prejudice pending review by a three-judge panel of the Fifth Circuit[, but] it is also appropriate to transfer [it] to the Fifth Circuit for a determination of whether [the petitioner] should be allowed to file the successive [application] in the district court.

United States v. King, Nos. 3:97-cr-0083-D-01 & 3:03-cv-1524-D, 2003 WL 21663712, at *1 (N.D. Tex. July 11, 2003) (citations omitted), rec. adopted, 3:03-cv-1524-D, Dkt. No. 7 (N.D. Tex. July 28, 2003).

The undersigned finds that transfer to the Fifth Circuit, as opposed to dismissal without prejudice, is most appropriate here.

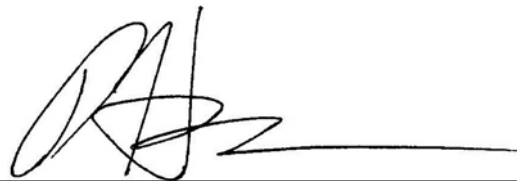

Recommendation

The Court should transfer the habeas application to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit for appropriate action.

A copy of these findings, conclusions, and recommendation shall be served on all parties in the manner provided by law. Any party who objects to any part of these findings, conclusions, and recommendation must file specific written objections within 14 days after being served with a copy. See 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); FED. R. CIV. P. 72(b). In order to be specific, an objection must identify the specific finding or recommendation to which objection is made, state the basis for the objection, and specify the place in the magistrate judge's findings, conclusions, and recommendation where the disputed determination is found. An objection that merely incorporates by reference or refers to the briefing before the magistrate judge is not specific. Failure to file specific written objections will bar the aggrieved party from appealing the factual findings and legal conclusions of the magistrate judge that are accepted or adopted by the district court, except upon grounds of plain error. See Douglass v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n, 79 F.3d 1415, 1417 (5th Cir. 1996).
